1. Shared Governance Discussion Continued

(L. Smith and M. Jenkins; See email thread with subject "See Attached TLC Documents" dated October 27-29, 2021.)

- This is a conversation around senate, deans, academic affairs, perhaps faculty association, and the role we believe faculty should play in the leadership of the institution.

- Sometimes we continue doing things a certain way because we have always done it that way. But sometimes it is good practice to interrogate that process/structure and see if still holds up. We have always done shared governance this way, and in some ways, it has been very effective, but is there a better way?
