

To My 1010 Students:

I have a couple tasks for you that I expect to be completed today during class.

1. Work together on the homework assignments that are now due Thursday (10.2) and Friday (10.3). Make sure everyone understands how to do the homework.
2. Start reviewing for your final exam. Your final exam is 2 weeks from today. The topics I want you to pay particular attention to this morning:
 - a. Exponent Rules from Section 5.1.
 - b. Rational Exponents from Section 8.2.
 - c. Once you have reviewed those two sections start back with Chapter 2.
 - i. If you have past homework assignments go over the problems you missed together. If everyone in the class missed the same one then make a note of it and we will go over it together first thing Friday.
 - ii. If you don't have your past homework assignments, start working on the review problems at the end of each chapter.
