

To My 1060 Students:

I have a couple tasks for you that I expect to be completed today during class.

1. As a class/campus, review together division of complex numbers, and complex conjugates of complex numbers. The information for both is found in your text book. That will finish section 6.1 and we can move onto 6.2 on Friday
2. Start reviewing for your final exam. Your final exam is 2 weeks from today. The topics I want you to review this morning:
  - a. Start back with chapter 1 and 2.
  - b. Pay particular attention to Section 1.4 as it will help us Friday when we talk about 6.2
  - c. If you have past homework assignments go over the problems you missed together. If everyone in the class missed the same one then make a note of it and we will go over it together first thing Friday.
  - d. If you don't have your past homework assignments, start working on the review problems at the end of each chapter.
