Justification:

This course will provide students with opportunities to explore and experience standard woodwind ensemble literature. Courses like this are taught at all NASM accredited institutions both in the state and across the country. This is similar to brass chamber, percussion ensemble, and string chamber music courses.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Students will learn the standard woodwind ensemble literature from the Western European and American cultures. In addition, students will be taught ensemble performance techniques.

Content:

Students will learn the standard woodwind ensemble literature from the Western European and American cultures. In addition, students will be taught the small ensemble performance techniques.

General Education Outcomes:

5) Apply a cultural and historical awareness to a variety of phenomena.

Students will gain a greater understanding of music in the Western European cultures. This will broaden their awareness and ability to respond to these different cultures in positive ways. In addition, students will be better prepared to apply the performance practices of music of all musical eras because of their experiences in this class.

9) Respond with informed sensitivity to an artistic work or experience.

Students will be able to respond more sensitively to a greater spectrum of artistic works because of their firsthand experiences with the musical works studied in this course.

Key Performance Indicators:

Students will be assessed through performance evaluations and concerts as they perform appropriate levels of literature (50%). The instructor will also evaluate them on class participation and rehearsal preparedness (50%). Percentages are approximate.
