

Undergraduate Research Datasets

FiveThirtyEight

A platform that focuses on opinion poll analysis, politics, economics, and sports blogging. It hosts interactive articles backed by curated datasets. They publish their datasets via their Github repository.

BuzzFeed

Popular news website that evolved from low-quality clickbait writing to research-driven and high-quality data journalism. BuzzFeed makes their datasets publicly available on Github. It is recommended to use the Data and Analyses sets and the Standalone Datasets.

ProPublica

An independent, non-profit newsroom focused on issues of public interest in the U.S. It offers both free and paid datasets which are well-maintained and regularly updated.

Kaggle

A data science community with tools and resources which include externally contributed machine learning datasets of all kinds. From health, through sports, food, travel, education, and more, Kaggle is one of the best places to look for quality training data.

Google Dataset Search/Education Outcomes

Over 100+ datasets using the Google search engine that are freely available (like Google Scholar).

Google Dataset Search/Coronavirus COVID-19

Over 100+ datasets using the Google search engine that are freely available (like Google Scholar).

The World Bank World Development Indicators

The World Development Indicators (WDI) is the primary World Bank collection of development indicators, compiled from officially recognized international sources. It presents the most current and accurate global development data available, and includes national, regional, and global estimates.